THE 2ND SOUTH – SOUTH DIALOGUES: COLONIALITY, RACE, AND INDIGENOUS EPISTEMOLOGIES

SESSIONS

Wednesday 29th November 2017

Cross-borders interactions and representations
Priestley Building (#67), Room 342

Dr Angela Daly and Dr Monique Mann, Queensland University of Technology - [Big] Data, Power and the North-in-South: the curious case of Australia.

Dr Ana Maria Allimant Holas, Freelance Academic - Where One Thinks From, the Discursive Construction of Asylum Seekers.

Dr Jon Piccini, The University of Queensland - South-South dialoguing during the Cold War – Australian Indigenous activists in China.

Ana Borges (chair), The University of Queensland - Migration and Domestic Violence: Women’s experiences of proving domestic violence as a requirement for permanent residency in Australia.

---

Literary ‘Other’
Priestley Building (#67), Room 142

Zachariah Braxton-Smith, The University of Queensland - “Fancy visions”: Writing the countryside in Australia and Argentina.

Dr. Roberto Esposto (chair), The University of Queensland - Leyendo a Rodolfo Kusch en y desde Australia. Reflexiones y observaciones I Reading Rodolfo Kusch in and from Australia: reflections and observations – Presentation in Spanish.

Dr. Sergio Holas, University of Adelaide and Dr. Israel Holas Allimant, Deakin University - El giro decolonial en el rock chileno de la Unidad Popular – Presentation in Spanish.

Dr Mark Piccini, Queensland University of Technology - Voicing Violence in Australia and Guatemala: A Comparison of Mark McKenna’s Looking for Blackfellas’ Point and Horacio Castellanos Moya’s Senselessness.
Pedagogies of the South
Priestley Building (#67), Room 342

Dr Lilian Fleuri, The University of Queensland - The Brazilian diaspora in Brisbane: heritage community initiatives and cultural/linguistic identity.

Fabiane Ramos (chair), The University of Queensland - Digging into my closet of skeletons: reflections about doing decoloniality in a PhD context.

Pablo Felipe Santibanez Rodriguez, The University of Queensland – Education and nation-building in Chile: The Nineteenth-Century Chilean educational system as a mechanism of subalternization.

Graham Atkurst and Dr. Carlos Rivera Santana, The University of Queensland - Indigenus Knowledge and Critical Creative Pedagogy.

Reimagining colonial spaces
Priestley Building (#67), Room 142

Carla Sartori Do Amaral, Queensland University of Technology - A participatory design approach to the study of cross-cultural factors in the design of public services.

Brian Jeganathan, Monash University - Bringing Rancière into the South South Dialogue: Re-imagining "cultural workers" as “horizontal intellectual” in a postcolonial context through Racière’s “equality of intelligence”

Dr. Jane Turner (truna aka j.turner) and Dr. Manuela Taboada (chair), Queensland University of Technology - Design and power: The importance of stories.
Thursday 30th November 2017

History and Law: Decolonial work in Latin America
Priestley Building (#67), Room 342

Nicole Bernstein, The University of Queensland – Challenging the Notion of ‘Third World Women’: Rethinking Oppression and Victimisation Through the Case of Women in Argentina.

Dr. Sol Rojas-Lizana (speaker) and María Itati Dolhare (chair), The University of Queensland - What’s in a preamble? Decolonial thinking in the preambles of the Bolivian and Ecuadorian constitutions: a discourse analytic approach.

Maria Itati Dolhare (speaker) & Dr. Sol Rojas-Lizana, The University of Queensland - The Indigenous concept of Vivir Bien in the Bolivian legal field: a decolonial proposal.

Rethinking Communities
Priestley Building (#67), Room 142

Roxanne Aguilar, Sunshine Coast University - The Subject of Pedagogical Aid: using decolonization theory to analyse the role of narratives of development and education in Mexican Civil Society Organisations.

Monica Yadeun de Antuñano, Griffith University - Building a sustainable agenda that challenges the current focus in development: perspectives from the Nahua Indigenous knowledge.

Lameko Samu Panapa, The University of Queensland - Spaces not Faces: Liminality, Pasifika ethnicities and Australian Rugby League.

Zachariah Braxton-Smith (Chair)